Project #1- A Personal Manifesto

One of the first art manifestos of the 20th century was written in 1909 and was called The Futurist Manifesto. Since then, artists have used manifestos for many purposes, to communicate a new idea to the world, to commit to a cause, or to react to the status quo. They are often political, always personal and occasionally outrageous. The intent is for revolution. Change is good....right?

I personally use the idea of a manifesto to declare who I am, why I do what I do, and what I am passionate about. This is not a permanent document. We all change and as we do, our passions and focus change.

THE ASSIGNMENT:

Write your personal manifesto. It can take any form, I suggest look at a few online - please no plagiarism. It can be a narrative, outline with bullet points, scribbled on a sheet, what-ever. What is important, is for you to examine what it is that makes your life. We will be sharing and discussing them in class on Monday.
